

As many of you may know, my cooking skills could be better ... so I'm going to share one of my favorite recipes that is "bachelor simple."

To prepare this one, you'll need a cup that holds somewhere between 8 and 16 ounces, an ice cream scoop, and either a straw (for those who are very patient) or a spoon (for those who are not very patient), and, of course, some of this Espresso Mocha ice cream (pictured below).

Preparation is also, as you might guess, bachelor simple:

- Open the ice cream
- (2) Bring the glass close to the ice cream

the ice cream, and wait for the ice cream to melt.

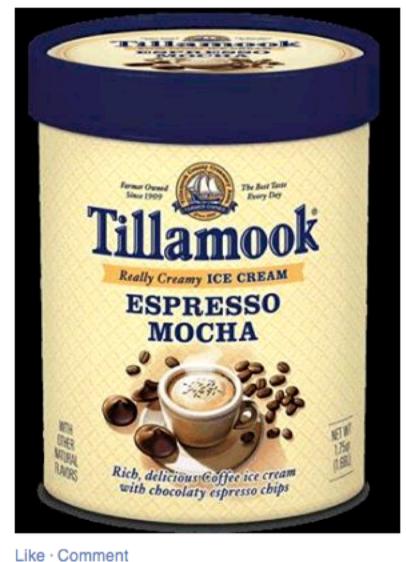

- (3) Grab the ice cream scoop (4) Using the ice cream scoop, fill the glass as full as you can get it.
- (5) Once the glass is full, close the ice cream and put it back in the
- freezer. (6a) If you are of the patient persuasion, place the straw into the cup with
- (6b) If you are not of the patient persuasion, place the spoon into the ice
- cream, and eat -- but beware of the dreaded "brain-freeze!" (7) for the patient folk, check your cup from time to time, and stir it with your straw until you feel it is ready ... then take a sip (or two ... or ...)!

Note -- this is best on a hot summer day (or night), but what's a little cold weather between you and the ice cream?

Enjoy!
